

My Personal Project ATL Skill Chart

Example

ATL skills I selected	How I plan to demonstrate these skills in my Personal Project
Objective A: Investigating Strength (What do I do well?): “Create references and citations and construct a bibliography according to recognized conventions”	I’ve learned how to include a bibliography through projects I have completed in the past (examples: History Fair and Science Fair) and papers I have written in my English class. My favorite resource for this is Purdue Owl, where I can look up how to cite just about any type of source—online or otherwise
Further Develop (What needs practice?): “Evaluate and select information sources and digital tools based on their appropriateness to specific tasks”	I know I need help selecting which sources will best help me complete my project. This involves evaluating what sources will work best—and using them, and discarding those which may not be in alignment with my project goals. To help me with this skill, I will always keep my short and long term goals in front of me when I go through my research. Also, I will ask my project supervisor if I need some help.

Your Turn!

ATL skills I selected	How I plan to demonstrate these skills in my Personal Project
Objective A: Investigating Strength (What do I do well?):
Further Develop (What needs practice?):
Objective B: Planning Strength (What do I do well?):
Further Develop (What needs practice?):

ATL skills I selected	How I plan to demonstrate these skills in my Personal Project
Objective C: Taking Action Strength (What do I do well?):
Further Develop (What needs practice?):
Objective D: Reflecting Strength (What do I do well?):
Further Develop (What needs practice?):

HOMEWORK: Journal Prompt #12

Choose at least 1 skill from each objective above (a minimum of 4 skills total). You should select at least 2 skills from “Strengths” and 2 from “Further Develop”. Then please answer the following journal prompt in a well-developed 10-12 sentence paragraph:

What ATL skills were your strengths prior to beginning the Personal Project? What ATL skills do you plan to develop as you complete your Personal Project. How will you develop these skills?